Terms of Reference (TOR) for amendment of Noise pollution control rules, 2006 (03 Persons)

A. Background:

The use of mechanical/electrical equipment in human daily activities produces a wide variety of noises. Some noise levels reach a point where they adversely affect human health. Excessive noise can cause headaches, hearing loss, irritability, loss of concentration, insomnia and many other diseases. Children and the elderly, especially those with heart disease, are at the highest risk. Therefore, noise pollution is identified as a silent killer.

Rapid urbanization, industrialization, abnormal increase in the number of mechanical vehicles, noise pollution in the country has increased at an excessive rate. To control noise pollution, the government has issued "Noise Pollution Control Rules 2006". Although various agencies are involved in the implementation/implementation of these rules, it is not possible to implement the rules effectively. Officials/employees of all law enforcement agencies are not informed about the Noise Pollution Control Rules 2006 and as there is no noise level measuring device, there is no data on the level of noise level in the district towns.

The Noise Pollution Control Rules, 2006 need to be amended to ensure proper implementation of laws and regulations to control noise pollution. Consulting institutions will be appointed for this purpose.
